Granadilla was founded by Muslims in the 9th century for military and defence purposes. In its north-eastern part, the Almohads erected the citadel, which would later be the Christian castle. It was abandoned in the mid-20th century, when it became a flood proof zone due to the construction of the Gabriel y Galán reservoir. In 1980, the town was declared a Historic Artistic Complex and four years later, in 1984, was chosen to be included in the Abandoned Towns Recovery Program.
